

Yates County Military Applications Records (Bounty Books)

Some years ago two books were discovered wrapped in paper and labeled "ledgers." These books were in reality two surviving books of pension applications and as such they have made a great deal of military and other information available about Yates County Civil War and War of 1812 soldiers and their families.

Although there were evidently several other books originally, these two survivors are Book 2, volume 1 and volume 4.

Book 2, volume 1 contains nearly all applications for either a pension or some form of back pay. Pensions were due to soldiers' widows or other dependent heirs such as aged parents and minor children. The applicant had to prove marriage in the case of a widow, and in a day before the existence of civil marriage records, this is a very rich source of information. A parent would have to prove that the dead soldier was his or her son; minor children's guardian would have to prove that the children were in fact those of the soldier.

Book 2, volume 4 is mostly back up material submitted by applicants mentioned in Part 1 or elsewhere. You will find doctors' proof of disability, buddies' proof of an applicant's death in service; midwives' and physicians' proof of birth; clergymen's or J.P.'s proof of an applicant's marriage; and so on.

This book also contains a number of applications made under an act of 1871 granting surviving War of 1812 veterans or their widows a monthly pension. The documents recorded here are the applications, containing proof of service, and proof of marriage in the case of widows. Considering how difficult it is to get good information on veterans of this conflict, these applications are invaluable.

Using the Index:

Civil War soldiers' names are marked with a *; War of 1812 applicants' names are marked with a #. Unmarked names may be of wives, children, witnesses, parents, ministers, physicians; in fact any person brought in to support an application. Notaries' names are not indexed, except as the person appears in some other role; their names are followed by an Esq.

The references in the index are to page numbers. Book A is Book 2, volume 1; Book B refers to Book 2, volume 4.

Copies of Images:

The books have now both been scanned, and copies of the images are available. To order a copy, please contact the County Historian's Office.
